MAHONE MENTIONED FOR A CAB-INET POSITION.

The Postal Difficulties of Virginia-Refusing Mahon Men Shelter for the Mail-The Report of the National Board of Health-Gath's Gossip About Pendleton, Thurman, Etc.

Washington, November 15 .- Colonel Chas Worthington, statistician, department of agri culture, has resigned on account of a pres sure of private business. He will be succeeded by J. R. Dodge who had the office under the administration of President Grant. Mr. Dodge will enter upon the discharge of his President Arthur commissioned the follow ing southern postmasters to-day: William P. Jones, Nashville; William W. Brown, Macon; Mrs. Belle M. Burchill, Fort Worth, Texas.

There seems to be a growing impression here that Senator Mahone may be tendered a cabinet position with a view of encouraging further results against democracy in the The democratic senators who are here, do not hesitate to say that their party would fight against Mahone's confirmation. One of them says that the democratic senators would keep the senate in a dead lock until the end of congress before they would let Mahone be confirmed a cabinet officer. Senator Blair, who is a warm friend of Ma hone, and has talked with him a great deal about his political aspirations, says he does not believe Mahone would leave the senate with nearly a full term ahead of him to accept a cabinet position.

First Assistant Postmaster-General Hatton to-day, discontinued the post-office at Shack elfords, King and Owen counties, Virginia because the people of the town would not le the postmaster have a place for an office. All citizens of the town are democrats, and they objected to the appointment of Goulder, because he is a readjuster. They refuse to rent him a room for an office, and when he bought lumber, refused to let him ground on which to erect the office. This case was thus represented to the department and the office was ordered discontined.

President Cabell has transmitted to the secre tary of the treasury the annual report of the national board of health. After referring to national board of health. After referring to various scientific investigations begun by the board and now nearly complete, involving questions of great interest, President Cabell, speaking of the maritime quarantine, says that congress having failed to appropriate means to carry out the plans of the board, they are compelled to abandon them in a degree. It was decided to operate the Sapelo Sound station with the imperfect machinery on hand, and head the hospital barge at Norfolk moderately equipped for emergencies prior to the action of congress. The board had already contracted for the repair of an old quarantine wharf and warehouse on James island, Charleston harbor, belonging to the United States. Various structures on Ship island have been rious structures on Ship island have been completed, making the total cost of this station only $30,000. These structures, according to law, are temporary, but the hospitals and other houses are commodious and admiand other houses are commodious and admirably adapted, in this mild and semi-tropical climate, to the designed uses, and may be kept in good condition at a small annual cost. On the subject of the maratime quarantine, the report says: "It is a source of deep regret to the board that the limitation of its resources as imposed by the recent action of congress, precludes the possibility of making an efficient arrangement at other localities on the south Atlantic and gulf coasts, and thus preparing adequate safecoasts, and thus preparing adequate safe guards against the introduction of infectious fevers from foreign countries, through any of the ports of the United States, from Baltimore to the southern limit of the coast of Texas." Reference is made to the valuable services rendered by Dr. D. M. Burgess, who was on constant duty in the office of the consul general at Havana guarding against infectious diseases reaching the United States from that port. In view of the proved efficiency of the river In view of the proved efficiency of the river sanitary police system, the board was serious ly embarrassed by the small appropriation granted for this purpose, and was forced to keep up the service with difficulty on a very small scale, principally for the protection of New Orleans against the unjust quarantine of other states. The sanitary inspection ser-vice at New Orleans, under the direction of

THE MAN TO DEAT JIM BLANK.

"Gath" in Cincinnati Enquirer.

I hear from friends in Washington that a strong suspicion is entertained there that Senator Pendleton, of Ohio, is moving things quietly and dexterously to get the next presidential momination; and he is even said to have made peace with the old bondholders and hard-money forces of the east. The democratic party is unquestionably very hard up for presidential material, and a man of the vitality, political knowledge and comparative youth of Senator Pendleton takes all his former importance in the present stagnant condition of his party's fortunes. He is independent of the world, having a fortune generally estimated at $50,000. I know of no other person who has such an universal recognition in the social classes of the city where he lives. While not a negative man he is almost without enemies in hisown party, and has many confidential friends in the republican party. He is not a stickler for consistency's sake, and when he has advocated a series of measures which seem to have failed, he goes on to something else.

Undoubtedly Mr. Pendleton takes the lead in his party at present as the promoter of civilized ideas concerning the clerical force of the government, and the proper dignity of the executive branch. Although a democrat, he has federal antecedents, and has probably seen what almost every man must see—that the faith of our people is largely bound up in the executives. He has for a large enemy of the executive transment having representation ture. While this has not met with universal approbation, it is a respectable idea. If the executive can conde into congress, it will only add to the weight of congress instead of subtracting. There is, perhaps, too great a distance between the legislature and the executive. The legislature sembles the border robbers of Scotland, who never crossed the English line but to steal cattle. Periodical forays are made from the legislative end of the capitol upon the white house, never with a more decent purpose than to steal something the executive has got. There is a whisper abroad that Pendleton has republican help—that Blaine is not unfavorable to his presidential aspirations, provided Blaine himself is shoved aside by Grant and Arthur.

It is my impression that at the present moment the most popular democrat in the United States is Judge Thurman, of Ohio. Senator Bayard, of Delaware, has been for several years a great favorite among the edu-cated classes of the democracy, but he seems to make no headway. Every honor he re-ceives sets on his shoulders but a day or two. He appears to have that nervous complaining temperament so general among successful men on the Delaware peninsula. A sort of tender melancholy and a vein of moralizing resides in all that class. Old John M. Clayton, who had a bushel of brains, as his neighbors say, lived between the highest ecstasy and the lowest spirits. On one occasion a and the lowest spirits. On one occasion a man came to him from Pennsylvania, saying: "Mr. Clayton, I have driven one hundred miles to see you, because I have more respect for you as a whig senator than for anybody in my state. I want to state to you a matter in which I am deeply interested." Old Clayton jumped up from his enormous chair, in which David Davis might lose himself, and exclaimed: "You sit right down there in my interest, and covered arm with flattery and escorted him salf-way down to the gate on the lane, and then when he came back to a room-full of returning Delawareans, old Clayton cried: "There, do you see that? That is the way I am pestered all the time;" and he dropped into the deepest vein of melancholy. Mr. Bayard is said to have a sardonic view of human nature, which I think is owing to the belaware and In other portions of the

The return of the president to Washington has again revived cabinet rumors. The latest is that while in New York it was decided not o retain any single member of the late cabi to retain any single member of the late cabinet. It was the intention to have retained Lincoln as secretary of war, but it is developed that he is not in love with the place he holds, for the reason that General Sherman rides rough-shod over him, and for him to assert his rights is to make an open war with old Tecunseh. Hence Lincoln is to be provided with a foreign mission, probably to the German court. According to further rumor, the new cabinet will be announced as soon as congress reassembles after the holiday recess. ngress reassembles after the holiday recess It is not now believed that Frelinghuysen will be secretary of state. The old man lost a good deal of money through the failure of

It is asserted by the friends of General James that he has finally made up his mind to accept the presidency of the new Vander-bilt bank in New York, and is expected to as-sume his duties as such on the 1st of January

Chauncey Filley, of Missouri, is here, and has located with his family in private apartments, with a fixed determination to stay. Despite the fact that he denies he is to succeed James, he is on the hot trail for the Attorney-General MacVeagh returned here ast night with the president. His friends say ne does not intend to resume his duties as attorney general, but is in the city on business before the United States supreme court. The very just criticisms to which the diminutive re-former from Pennsylvania has been subjected by the press for abandoning his post in face of fire have probably made him ashamed of himself, and he has come back to retrieve, if e can, what he has lost. The president, it he can, what he has lost. The president, it is known, has no present intention of accepting his resignation, so that if he again runs away it will be his own fault.

Just now the "boom" which settled toward old Timothy Howe as MacVeagh's successor has measurably died out, and the public mind is attracted toward Emory Storrs, of Chicago —more especially since the rumor of Lin-coln's retirement has prevailed. Storrs is in the good graces of the president, but his enemies are at work to encompass his defeat by circulating the statement that he has a poor memory in financial obligations—in she repudtates his debts.

THE PRIZE FIGHTERS.

PORT DOVER, November 15 .- At present here seems to be little chance of the prize ight between Hodden and White taking place n this vicinity to-morrow. The sheriff of Norfolk county has made ample preparation to meet the prize fighters should they attempt o land on Canadian territory.

Their present intention appears to be to eave here for Canada at 2 or 3 o'clock to-mor-ow morning to settle the affair immediately upon landing and to return in the afternoon. The Rodgers Expedition The Rodgers Expedition.

San Francisco, November 15 — The Stock Reporter publishes extracts from a letter from an officer on the Arctic relief steamer Rodgers, dated October 16, at St. Lawrence bay, where the ship arrived the lay before. A sledge party was landed on the Siberian coast, about fifty miles, from East cape, with one year's provisions, with orders to sledge the coast to the north and west as soon as the ground was covered with snow. The Rodgers had reached 25 – 74 north. No land was visible to the northwest.

MAKING THE JURY

TO TRY THE ASSASSIN OF GAR-FIELD.

The Proceedings of the Day in the Trial of Guites Scenes in Court - Challenging the Jurors-Eight Selected - Secretary Blaine Sum - * moned - The Interest Increasing.

WASHINGTON, November 15 .- The pressure to obtain admission to the court room this morning was notably greater than it was yesterday. After the ushers had exercised the right of admitting two or three scores of well dressed, respectable looking people, including a Pennsylvania member of congress accompanied by ladies, the doors were thrown open and there was a sudden and impetuous influx of representatives of the rougher elements. The five jurors who were selected and sworn yesterday, were early in attendance. The judge took his seat and the court was formally opened a few minutes after two o'clock, and immediately afterwards the counsel in the case and the brother and sister of the prisoner entered. Afte a lapse of a few minutes, Guiteau was hurried into the court room in custody of half a dozen policemen and deputy marshals. The handcuffs were then removed from his wrists and he shook hands with his sister and brother, and took the seat reserved for him exclained: "You sit right down there in my chair. Nobody ever sat in that chair but me, but I want you to sit in it." He heard the man's statement with the keenest apparent interest, and covered him with flattery and ney making no objection, was made by the court; then the additional number of seventy-five who were summoned last evening. were called, most of the persons re sponding, when called. Guiteau manifested lees nervousness and excitability than he had Delaware sand. In other portions of the country it has been said that a man has not enough sand in him, but in Bayard's case and demonstrative and earnest in his manner. A demonstrative and earnest in his manner. A colored barber named Howard was the first juror called and examined as to his fitness to serve. His answer showed him to be not dis qualified from service but the defense chalenged him peremptorily, being the fourth peremptory challenge. The next was a man named Linch, who had a decided opinion that Guiteau ought to be hanged or burned. He was of course excused, as was also the next, named Bailey, who declared his belief that Guiteau was crazy. The next was a colored man, re-markable for his frilled shirt front and dra-matic posture and manner, who related a story of his past life and then was peremptorily challenged by the defense. In fact, it is understood that Giteau is resolved not to have a colored man on the jury. The next was an Irishman named Michael Sheehan, with a very pronounced brogue, who had no opinion on the subject of Giteau's crime ex-cept that "the man was out of his head." He was sworn sixth juror.

William Talbot, iron-worker, answered all the questions to the satisfaction of the de-fense, saying that he had "never bothered his head on the question of Guiteau's guilt." He was challenged peremptorily by the prosecu-tion. Several others in succession were ex-cused on their statements that they had firm cused on their statements that they had firm and decided opinions. One of them believed that Guiteau ought to be hanged, and another would require convincing medical testimony to change his opinion. A long-faced colored young man named Foster declared that he was perfectly free from any prejudice in the matter, but admitted that he had mentioned it (the murder of Mr. Garfield) to several parties as 'control a serious accident.' He was tigned to be several parties as 'control a serious accident.' ties as "quite a serious accident." He was challenged peremptorily by the defense. Samuel F. G. W. Gates, a young man, a native of G. W. Gates, a young man, a native of Washington and a machinest by trade, answered all questions satisfactorily and was sworn as the eighth juror. After that for about an hour every man who was called confessed that he had a firm, or decided or unalterable opinion on the question of the prisoner's guilt, and was excused. There was one exception, of a colored man, Ralph Wormley, a plasterer by occupation, who thought he could render a fair verdict. He said that he had not read more about the case than he did in ordinary cases of that kind; than he did in ordinary cases of that kind; did not believe everything that he read in the papers, because they had published things about him that were not true; could not say whether the president was shot by prisoner until he would hear the testimony. Of course, if any insane man did the shooting, he would be as much guilty as anybody class. The "creave nort" of the husiness was else. The "crazy part" of the business was "something else." No sensible man could have done such a thing. After consultation between counsel and prisoner and his brother Scovill said the defense would accept the uror, and Wormley was sworn as the ninth uror. The list of 75 talesmen having been exhausted, the marshal was ordered to sum mon another list of 75 for to-morrow. The court, at 12:20, adjourned. Secretary Blaine, who will be made principal witness for the government to prove the shooting of President Garfield by Guiteau, has been notified to appear in court to-morrow

MARINE DISASTER.

Detroit, November 15.—Captain Chambers of the sunken steamer Brunswick, has arrived in the city, and gives the following account of the collision between his vessel and the schooner Carlingford, off Port Colborne Sat-urday: "We left Buffalo at 10 o'clock Friday, with a cargo of 1,500° tons of hard coal, bound for Duluth. It was snowing and a little thick when we left, but at 11 o'clock at night it was quite clear, the wind about east-southeast and seven miles per hour. At twelve o'clock the first mate, John Frazer, took charge, and I went aft for lunch. When I left the deck the weather was a little hazy, although I could plainly see Dunkirk light, twelve miles off. I went into the cabin, took off my overcoat and boots, ate lunch and sat down by the steam-heater for a smoke; had just finished a smoke, and was putting on my finished a smoke, and was putting on my boots to go forward where my room was, when I felt a slight jar, and immediately afterward heard the signal for the engine to stop and back. A second jar was felt, which I suppose was caused by the vessel rolling and striking against the bow of the Brunswick. Immediately I ran forward and tound that we had collided with the schooner. I said to the mate: 'This is a bad job, Mr. Frazer,' to which he replied: 'Yes, it is.' The second mate came on deck this time, and I sent him below to see if we were leaking. He quickly returned and said: 'Captain, we are sinking.' I saw that the men on the schooner had lowered the yawl and could save themselves, so I at once headed the Brunswick for the shore. I didn't believe at the time that we were sinking, but went below, found that she was rapidly filling, closed the bulkhead dowr and set the pumps to working. Three quarters of hour at r the collision the Brunswick dow headforemost. Seven men, and two mules, were in that part of the boat. Two cooks, myself and the remainder of boat. Two cooks, myself and the remainder of the crew, eight persons in all, were to the starboard. The yawl boats were hoisted and swung out on davits, and some men remained on deck to push her off. All had on life-preserver's except myself. As to the steamer sunk, she seemed to be breaking in two as she took a sudden lurch to starboard and rolled over the yawl. Mr. Francomb, engineer, who was on deck showing the yawl out, seemed to get jammed between the cabin, as we never saw him after she went over. We let loose the stern yawl, but the man at the bow did not anhook his end, so the yawl was taken the stern yawi, but the man at the bow did not anhook his end, so the yawl was taken down with the steamer. I thought the yawl would come up again. I went a great distance before I let go, and when I did let go I thought I would never get to the top again. When I got up I caught on some pieces of the wreck, and was picked up and with the others taken to Dunkirk. When I reached land I was so exhausted that I had to be carried ashore.

A ST. LOUIS ROMANCE.

St. Louis society had something to talk about last week in the repetition of a marriage ceremony. Miss Carrie Bradford was not only a beauty, but, what is more to the purpose in the west, "a belle." She made her debut last winter just after returning from boarding school. She was young, and the only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Bradwhose stone-front mansion, with its spacious lawns, massive stone steps and wall, adorns the northwest corner of Thirty-fifth and Pine streets. She is a brunette, with glossy jet hair that curls, and when parted on the side makes her look not very glossy jet hair that curis, and when parted on the side makes her look not very unlike Lord Byron. Miss Bradford became acquainted with Alfred Ryan, son of Thomas Ryan, 2740 Locust street, fell in love with him and accepted him as her intended husband. The parents objected on the ground that Mr. Ryan lived with his father, had no particular occupation. fortune and had no particular occupation. Ryan was forbidden the house and Miss Bradford was sent to Virginia. The day before her departure Miss Bradford sought her friend, Miss Sybil Rex, and went to the residence of Rev. John A. Wilson, of the First United Presbyterian church. Mr. Ryan reached the same place about the same time, accompanied by a friend, Mr. Bieding. The clergyman had his prayer-book out, and in the presence of Miss Rex and Mr. Bieding, as witnesses, Mr. Ryan and Miss Carrie Bradford were solemnly and firmly married. Not a fortune and had no particular occupation. were solemnly and firmly married. Not a word was said about the marriage to anybody. That night Miss Bradford left for White Sulohur springs. She remained at the Virginia resort until a few days ago, and when she got back Mr. Ryan called at the Bradford mansion and was refused admission. In a last desper-ate effort he demanded that he be allowed to see his wife. This was an astonisher for the Bradfords. They consulted together, the doors were opened and their son-in-law was reluctantly received. After discussing the situation antly received. After discussing the situation it was agreed to have a second ceremony performed, and, as a result, on Wednesday evening Mr. Ryan and Mrs. Ryan were remarried by the Rev. George A. Lofton, of the Second Baptist church, at the residence of the bride's parents, in the presence of friends. The newspars had an agreement of the wedding next.

THE COTTON CROP.

Report of the Department of Agriculture. Washington, November 15,-The following statement showing the condition of the cotton, corn and wheat crops, was issued at the department of agriculture to-day:

Cotton-The returns of November 1st from ten of the principal cotton growing states, gives indication of a yield per acre of considerably less than last year. The drouth, which was the cause in all sections, was most severe in the states west of the Mississippi river, and, as reported, the decrease in those states is 33 per cent in Louisiana, 40 per cent in Tevas and nearly 60 per cent in Arkansas Texas, and nearly 60 per cent in Arkansas North Carolina, on the Atlantic coast, makes a return of 30 per cent less yield than in 1880; South Carolina, Georgia and Mississippi report a better condition, and the prospects are for a crop not much below that of last year. In these states the weather is reported as having been favorable during the month and the prospect of a fair top crop was good. The average yield per acre of wheat in 1881, as shown by our returns, is ten and onehalf bushels, against thirteen and one-tentl in 1880, indicating a decrease of about twenty per cent or one hundred millions of bushels from last year's product, which reached nearly five hundred millions. Along the Atlantic ast the yield has not varied greatly that of the previous season, but in the interior and western states there has been a great fall ing off, caused by the severe winter, late cold spring, drouth and in several states insect ravages, but while the quantity of the crop is reduced, the quality is generally reported very good. Corn-November returns she average yield of 20½ bushels per aere of corn, indicating a falling off of about 20 per cent from the crop of 1880; caused chiefly by the general and protracted drouth during the growing season and by the excessive rains since the crop was harvested, which have done great damage in many sections, especially in the Ohio and Mississippi valleys. The chinch gion. The quality of the crop is somewhat below the average. In Wisconsin and Minne-sota there is a decided increase over last year's yield, but there are exceptions to the general rule.

Florida reports a decrease of 15 per cent;
Alabama an increase of 13 per cent, Tennessee
a decrease of 12 per cent. Virginia is not included as a cotton state, its products being nsignificant.

TOO MANY WIVES.

How the Truant Husband Soothed His First Love. NASHVILLE, November 15 .- A Memphis spe cial to the American says: About twelve months ago Francis Burt arrived in Memphis and soon afterwards married Mrs. Hildebrand, who had been twice wedded, her first husband having been an actor named Maroney, who was a member of the stock company that played at the theaters in this city several years ago. Mr. and Mrs. Burt lived happily together until yesterday, when their domestic felicity received a sudden shock in the ap-pearance of Mrs. Francis Burt, No. 1, who came all the way from Burlington. Iowa, to hunt her truant husband. On her complaint Burt was arrested for bigamy and lodged in the station, where he was inter-viewed by wife No. 1, who, in her story to the police, said Burt had married her in Burlington four years ago. What passed between husband and wife during their interview is not definitely known, but when the case was called for trial this morning Mrs. Burt, of Iowa, was missing, and Burt was therefore discharged from custody. It is said that $200 cash paid to the wife from the west caused her to depart suddenly last night for her home in Iowa, leaving Burt to the care of his Ten-nessee wife. Burt claims never to have been married to the Burlington woman.

GOULD'S CRANK.

His Arraignment at the Police Conrt.

New York, November 15.—Colonel John Howard Welles was arraigned at the Tombs police court to-day, on the charge of attempting to blackmail Jay Gould. Inspector Byrnes applied to Judge Bixby for a remand, to enable him to procure necessary evidence to sustain the complaint. The prisoner was then taken to police headquarters and locked up. It is intimated that Inspector Byrnes is in possession of documentary evidence of an important character against Welles, not yet published. Jay Gould did not appear in-court.

In the afternoon Welles was again arraigned, accompanied by his counsel, Algernon Sullivan, and a number of relatives. Inspector van, and a number of relatives. Inspector Byrnes submitted a number of letters written by the accused, which were carefully looked over by Justice Bixby and Counsel Sullivan, after which the latter applied for a postponement of the examination on the ground that he had been retained late in the afternoon, and had not had time to prepare the defense. Though he abhorred the crime of blackmail, he said he was confident he could show his client's conduct was proposed by the mail, he said he was confident he could show his client's conduct was prompted by the vagaries of insanity, and no responsibility could rest on him. He also thought that as he became more familiar with the details of the case he might waive examination. In-spector Byrne's affidavit was then taken, and in it he stated that he believed Jay Gould's life was in denorar while the pricaper was in the stated that he believed Jay Gould's life was in danger while the prisoner was at large, and he requested his detention. He also charged that the letters were written merely for the purpose of blackmail. The examination was adjourned until the 16th inst., Judge Bixby ordering the warden of the prison to treat Welles as an insane man until his mental condition is determined.

THE TARIFF CONVENTION

ection of Ex-Governor Bullock as Chairman

Special dispatch to the Constitution.
CHICAGO, November 15.—The tariff protection convention assembled in Music hall here to-day with a large audience. Governor Bullock was elected temporary chairman. His address to the convention was well received. Colonel Buck was made chairman of the committee on permanent organization. Adjourned to three o'clock p. m., when the committe reported Hon. Charles Maginly for permanent chairman with a long list of vice presidents, among whom are Colonel Wadley, of Savannah; Grant Wilkins, of Atlanta. Hon. D. J.
Morrell, of Pennsylvania, was elected chairman of the committee on resolutions. Adjourned until tomorrow.

morrow.

Among the southern industries represented are the Iron and Railroad company, of Cedartown, Ga.; Hemingway glass company, Covington, Ky.; Natchez, Cotton mills company, Natchez, Miss.; Tecunseh iron company, of Alabama, and numerous others from all parts of the country.

The convention reassembled at 3 p. m., when Hon, William McKinley, of Ohio, was elected president.

Hon. William McKinley, of Ohio, was elected president.

A vote of thanks was tendered to Governor Bullock for his efficiency in the office of temporary chairman. McKinley, on taking the chair, said that while he was not an official representative of any single industry of the country, he was still a tariff man, because he believed in protection for the sake of protection. He did not believe in tariff for revenue only, with incidental protection. If there was to be any incidentabout it, he would have it a tariff for protection with incidental revenue. As long as the great growing industry of the United States demanded protection at the hands of congress, he believed that it ought to be voted to them, and that not niggardly. He had been educated in the school of tariff to which belonged Justice Morrill, who was one of the great leaders of tariff thought in the country. In conclusion he returned thanks for the honor conferred upon him. A convention on resolutions was appointed to whom all the resolutions offered in the convention were ordered to be referred without debate. The committee asked those who did not care ite. The committee asked those who did not care present their papers publicly to bring them to

Some Testimony Relative to His Transactions. NEWARK, N. J., November 15 .- The case of ashier Baldwin came before the United tates commissioners this morning. Martin, of Martin & Runyan, Wall street brokers, produced a batch of Nugent's drafts negotiated by them for Baldwin. Nugent's counsel ex-unined Martin to show that Baldwin had arge stock transactions in other names. An count was in Baldwin's wife's name, but the mounts involved were not over $5,000. His prother Theodore, the bank teller, also had an count, which became so large that Oscar cas notified. He appeared surprised, but af-erwards said it was all right. The account necessed, and sometimes he sent from $20,-000 to $40,000 in cash for margins, by a mesenger, and they had borrowed for him as such as 10,000 shares of stock representing a million of dollars at par. Martin finally or-lered the account closed, as he preferred not to have such large dealings with a person holding a position of trust. The case was then adjourned until Saturday, November

Mexican Veterans' Day.
A LARGE ATTENDANCE AND MUCH ENTHUSIASM—THE

ADDRESSES, ETC.

Yesterday was Mexican veterans' day, and the as, sociation held its meeting in Judges' hall at the exposition grounds. The crowd was the largest that has been on the grounds since the opening of the exposition. At three o'clock Judges' hall was filled with an eager audience to hear the address by Genral Jackson. Director-General Kimball conducted General Walker, General Jackson, and other distinguished men to the stage. General Sherman insisted on remaining in the audience.

When the applause which followed the appear ance of the orator had subsided and the distinguished gentleman on the stage had been seated, Director-General Kimball arose and said:

Ladies and Gentlemen: This is the occasion of the annual meeting of the Mexican veterans and they have done us the honor to call their meeting here. It is their meeting and they will manage it in their own way. I have the honor to introduce to you General Walker.

General Walker, of this city, then arose and said:
Ladies and Gentlemen and Members of the Mexcan Veteran Association: For the last five years we have had our meetings during fair week. This being the year of the exposition, we conferred with the gentlemen who controlled the exposition as to what day would be most suitable for us to meet here. Some ten days ago they designated the 15th and gave us the privilege of having this hall. Of course the memtership of the association must be very small in point of numbers, but I trust and hope that the sentiment and remembrance weghave for the achievements of the armies of the United States, which acquired such vast and rich territories, will be larger far than this poor remembrance.
[Applause.] I have letters of declination from General Beauregard, General Grant, General Bonham, General Table, the leaders in our late war. I had hoped and heliqued that Gerferal Walker, of this city, then arose and said : ham, General Control to the control At the conclusion of General Walker's re-

General Jackson arose and began speaking. He said that he knew from the character of the audience before him, a representative audience from all sections of the country, the nature of the duty which had been designed for him. He must strive to win their thoughts from the engaging pursuits of the present time to the painful memories of the more and directing them across gulf of intervening of civil strife fasten them for a few brief mo-ments, at least, upon the bright spot in our own history. He then went on to trace the history of war with Mexico. Unencumbered with notes, he fought over again each conflict in that memora-ble campaign. The marvelous success of the ble campaign. The marvelous success of the confederate troops fighting against such fearful odds were told with such power and brilliancy that the enthusiasm of the audience knew no bounds. In the midst of his eloquent speech he sai in speaking of the officers: "Arhong the bravest of the brave was young Henry T. Walker. He was a dear friend of mine. Walker was wounded five times in the confer a favor on a great number of exhibitors friend of mine. Walker was wounded five times in the confer a favor on a great number of exhibitors as well as to friend of mine. Walker was wounded five times in as well as to a battle in Florida, shot almost to the death in two wars fighting beneath the stars and stripes. When the old flag, his heart's devotion. was lowered from its staff at the arsenal near Augusta, after Georgia had seceded, I saw him burst into tears and sob like a tender girl. You, true men of the north, think you that rebellious treason was taking a solitary drop that gushed from that man's veius? When shot at last to the death, he fell within a few yards of where I stand, in obedience to the laws of his native state, and in obedience to the laws of

The speech was certainly one of the mo entertaining ever delivered in Atlanta. was appropriate in every particular, clothed in language the most chaste and beautiful, and delivered in a style that crowned it as one of the most charming addresses ever heard here.

At the close of the address General Sherman was loudly called for, and after a long hesitation he arose, and on being conducted from the audience to the stage, said:

the stage, said:

Ladies and Gentlemen; I have told many to-day in Atlanta that my purpose was not to speak one word on this occasion. I came here to observe what you are doing here, of which I had read in the papers and been told about by other, who had seen the fair. But being here and being urged to speak a few words as an old Mexican veteran, I feel that I can refuse nothing to the soldiers, however averse I may feel toward doing so. I regard soldiery as being something so pure and ennobling that whoever has felt the spurt once can never forget; it, and whenever I am called upon, whether it be by the soldiers of the Florida war or any other war, my heart responds as by inspiration. I see a few of my old comrades of the Mexican war here. General Sherman then spoke of his connection with the Mexican war, in which he served with the cavalry. He then continued:

with the Mexican war, in which he served with the cavalry. He then continued:

Now, gentlemen, we have heard the eloquent address of this memorable day. Its spirit is good, and I see no reason why we may not now declare with Webster: "Thank God, I am an American citizen." We are American citizen. I thank God that I am one, and I tell you that I can go to any spot from Maine to Texas, and stop where I please, so long as I behave myself and obey the laws of the place, and that is the spirit of the government. That is what made us the United States of America, and that is the foundation-stone upon which governments are built for this continent. We fought our mother and acquired our independence, and to-day we are the same nation, the same soldiers, the same government the same flag, and, so far as I am concerned, I am just as friendly to Georgia as I am to my own native state of Ohio. [Immense applause.] If you all think Georgia is a better part of the country, why stick to Georgia, and if you want to go to California, why go there. That is the great value of our system of government. It is a government worth fighting for. I have come to-day to look upon these buildings where once we had battle-fields, and I delight more to look upon them than to look upon the seene which was here enacted stateen years ago, and I say that every noble man and every kindly woman over this broad land takes as much interest in your prosperity and in this exposition as do those who are sitting in this presence to-day. Idid not intend to be brought out even this much, but I think that we thank God that we are, each and every one of us, great and small, young and old, American citizens.

Visitors from Tennessee.

The city council of Nashville will not come to At-

On yesterday morning, in company with several gentlemen, they visited the grounds, and under the guidance of Senator Brown, Mr. Kimball, Secretary Ryckman and others, they made the tour of the buildings, which occupied them until about half-past one. At that time they stopped at Mr. Kimball's office and rested for awhile. A number of ladies and gentlemen paid their respects to General Sherman for the succeeding hour. At half past two in company with Governor Brown Mr. Kimball, Mr. Ryckman and others, the party visited Jones's restaurant and there had an elab orate lunch. At three o'clock they returned to the Judges' hall and there attended the meeting of Mexican veterans and listened to the speech of General Jackson.

The general and his staff were invited to the banquet given by the cotton men of Atlanta to Massachusetts and South Carolina, at the Exposition hotel last night, but was forced decline the invitation as he already, accepted an favitation to occupy a private box at the opera house, and hear the Hess opera company in the Chimes of Normandy.

General Sherman expressed himself as more than astonished at the extent and comof the exposition, and agreed with his staft that it far surpassed popular expecta-tion. During the walk about the grounds he and General Poe went back of the Florida building and with Kennesaw mountain as the base, laid out the scenes of the battles they had fought together around Atlanta. General Poe occupied the residence of Governor Brown as his headquarters during the occupation of Atlanta by the federal troops, and on yesterday when Mr. Kimball reminded Governor Brown of this fact General Poe stopped him, saying tha he was afraid Governor Brown would try to collect over-due rent.

The Mexican veterans called on General Sherman during the day, and many of them who knew him personally during the war went over with him the desperate scenes they had passed together.

Desired very much to visit the grounds, but was not well yesterday, and did not go out of his room. There he was visited by many of his friends, and conversed freely with them. He is attended by his faithful servant, Aleck, who has been years with him since his early youth. He left lor Wash-ief mo-ington at 3:15 by the Air-Line, and will remain in Washington until the opening of congress. He seems fully as alive as ever to public issues, and is apparantly ready to resume the active part he has long held in their conduct.

CAN SEE AT THE SPACE OCCUPIED BY George Draper & Son's, of Hopedale, Massachusetts, near the center of the main exposition building, a twister, spooler and reel built by the Hopedale machine company, containing all the latest improvements: also, a ring filling frame of the best construction for coarse work. The twister and filling frame are supplied with Daner's evener and double adjustable rings. A twister and ring frame, built by the Fales & Jenks machine company, Fawtucket, Rhode Island, having improved Rabbeth spindles, may be seen in operation on fine work. In connection with the exhibit of the Williamantic dpool Cotton company, one side of a frame, built by the Bridesburg manufacturing company, containing sawyer, spindles may be seen at the space occupied by that company. I hope to be at the exposition for consultation with any customer or enquirer, the latter part of this week.

P. S. In buying new don't be persuaded to take spindles of a former period, because they cost less money, you need improved ones on coarse work full as much as on fine.

BAINBRIDGE, November 11.-A terrible murder was committed at the little town of Branchville, litchell county, ten miles south of Camilla, Thursday, last. The facts, as near as we can glean them are these: Dr. Faircloth, a merchant of the place became involved in a dispute with a negress about ome money she owed him. Hearing it, her husband, Albert McKelvey, ran in, knife in hand, and striking the doctor one blow on the cheek laid it open. The wound, though painful and dangerous, was,not mortal. A gentleman in the store when the murderous attack was negro had cut his brother. The lad seized an axelve and ran to his brother's assistance. in striking distance of the negro he aimed a blow at him, which was arrested by the brawny arm the black, the helve being caught wrenched from the boy's grasp. The negro then struck him a blow on the head, kill ing him lustantly, and fled. Every effort has been made by the indignant community to arrest the murderer, but so far they have failed. The young man was highly respected by all who knew him and was a son of R. D. Faircloth, one of the best of Mitchell's citizens. I understand the father offers a a reward of $200 for the negro's arrest.

Washinoton, November 15.—Mrs. Harriet McLendon, of Danburg, an estimable lady, died Saturday and was buried here Sunday. —The dwelling of Alec Winglield, colored, a few miles from town, was burned down yesterday. —The new Methodist church is being roofed with thin by a squad of tinners from Athens.—The top crop of cotton in some sections of the county is opening very favorably. Guano agents report collections slow and tedious. The receipts at this place are about 1,500 bales behind last year. A fine crop of wheat and oats has been sown, and still there is a brisk demand for seed grain, oats commanding $1 per bushel. About 400 bushels of the rust-proof variety of wheat, known as the "Bill Dallas" wheat was shipped from this and Lincoln county early in the fall to Atlanta and to the agricultural department at Washington city, so there is a scarcity of it now and quite a lively home demand. —A good anany of our people will attend the exposition between this and the middle of December. The farmers want to finish ginning their cotton, kill hogs, and get through with sowing grain, then they will be ready to come.—The tinkle of the marriage bells still ring out in the fair. The vicinity of Danburg will soon invest in "orange blossoms."—Judge Pottle has set aside the second week in December to give John D. Coxwell a new trial, provided a jury can be obtained in the county.—Washington can lay claim to at least one honest man. One night last week a drummer representing J. W. Bessman, of Augusta, lost his pocket book containing fifty or sixty dollars, on our streets. The next morning a gentleman called upon the drummer, and handed him his pocket book containing sill his papers and his money. The drummer fielded to sak the gentleman his name, but we say let him be handed down to posserity, as an honest man.—Dr. S. G. Hillye, the Baptist minister here, is winning golden opinions from this community by his personal magnetism and h ROCKPILE, Dawson county. November 14.—James Roe, an escaped convict from the penitentiary, was captured on saturday night last at the house of a negro called Butch (heek, by James Crane and two of the Reese boys. He was sent from Forsyth county not more than two years ago for twenty-two months. He soon made his secape and came back to his old haunts, since which time he has spent the most of the time in this vicinity. He was looked upon as a dangerous customer, and a few attempts have been made to capture him. He usually went heavily armed, and had made threats against any one who should attempt his capture. Luckily, on the night of his capture, he had no weapon but a knife. He attempted to save winnself by running, and was shot in the side—wounds not considered dangerous. Several shots were fired at him, but one taking effect. In making his way to the woods he fell into a gully, which enabled Crane to come up with him, who knocked him down with his gun, and held him until the others in pursuif came up. Roe gave Crane a dangerous stab below his left shoulder blade and bruised him severely near his heart. He is suffering a good deal, but his attending physicianss, Drs. Looper and Thompson, think he will recover. Roe was taken te Forsyth county lail yesterday.

Little kosa, a five-year-olchild of J. H. Brooks, of Hampton, Ga., will be buried here to-day. She died at her father's residence in Hampton on Saturdaylast. Miss Genevi Moore, of the primary, and Miss Ross Stallings, othe preparatory department of our college, are bott sick, and Professor D. H. Hill, jr., is called to his father's residence in Arkansas, by the death of his sister.—The municipal election in this city, which comes off the first Wednesday in December, is the only excitement. Mayor Walker, the present in cumbent, and Henry Temples, the former mayor are candidates. To the present board of aldermen who have served two terms, there is no opposition

ATHENS, November 14.—The wife of Hon. E. S. Newton died this morning. Judge Newton is one of the oldest and most valuable citizens of Athens For more than half a century both he and Mrs Kewton have been residents of this city, and active and useful members of the Presbyterian church—Superior court met this morning, Judge Erwir presiding. Savannah News.

Yesterday morning early, three young children of Mrs. B. Spann, aged eight, six and four years, living on Montgomery street, near Little Jones, were seized successively with violent convulsions of a daugerous character. Dr. T. B. Chisholm was at once sent for, and reached the house in a short time. Upon examination he was satisfied, from the symptoms, that the children had been poisoned by eating something. No one in the family, however, could account for the alarming and sudden tilness of the little ones, though the supposition is that whilst playing in the yard on Saturday evening they had thoughtiessly chewed some china berries, of which there were quantities of dried ones lying about. During Saturday night the eldest of the three awoke, complaining of great pain in the stomach, and such remedies as were at hand were applied to her relief. Shortiv afterwards the others were taken in the same way, and early yesterday morning all three were prostrated with convulsions. After hard work and unceasing attention the physician succeeded in relieving two of the children during the morning, and they were considered out of danger. The youngest child's condition seemed much worse, but the doctor is not apprehensive of serious results, and it is thought they will all be saved though at one time their lives were held in the balance.

Columbus Enquirer.

A few days since an accident occurred at S. D. Muse's mill, in Meriwether county, which, in its detail, is one of the most frightful we have ever chronicied. A force of rock masons, assisted by a number of laborers, were engaged in building a rock dam. All had been successfully completed, seven few feet near the food gate, and it was at this point the men were at work when the accident occurred. On a scaffold, at the lower side of the flood gate, were a number of workmen and several large rocks. Mr. Muse was standing on one side of the platform and Mr. George Loville on the other. Both ordered the men to bring a rock, weighting about two thousand pounds, to the side on which they were standing. They obeyed Mr. Muse, and while in the act of carrying it the scaffold gave way, precipitating the men and rock to the water, about eighteen or twenty feet below. Being below the dam the water was very shallow, and did but little towards breaking the fail. Men, rock, tools and lumber of the scaffold were promiscuously mixed, and for a time the scene was most distressing one. In the descent some struck the rock dam, inflicting severe and painful cuts and bruises. Mr. Muse was found under a large rock which had fallen on bim, and it was thought life was extinct. Nothing but an arm was visible, but by this his miller succeeded in pulling him out. He was badly injured in the arm and leg, but fortunately neither limb was broken. Mr. William May, one of the masons, had one hand badly mashed. John Pless, colored, was the most unfortunate of all the party. One of the rocks fell on him, cutting off his left car, breaking the left arm, cutting a deep gash in the side of the head, and fracturing the skull. It is thought he will recover. The escape from death was most miraculous. There were some eight or ten men en the scaffold at the time of the accident.

Thousands of the most prominent and intelligent persons throughout the land have testified to the true merits of Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup. We advise sufferers to use it. Price

THE CONSTITUTION

ATLANTA, GA., NOVEMBER 16, 1881

Postmasters in Virginia are now required to furnish their own sheds. It is a dry day in the old dominion when a man can be a readjuster and a postmaster at the same time.

LORNE has arrived in Liverpool. It is to be hoped that Lorne is well; Liverpool also. And more also the builder of the fearfully and wonderfully made cablegram.

It is rumored in Washington that Mahone will go into the cabinet. With Billy there, and Wise and Riddleberger in the senate what a happy family of honest debt-payers and repudiationists the new administration

MR. JOSEPH NIMMO, chief of the national burean of statistics has made some interesting suggestions, in his annual reports, on the question of governmental regulation of railroad charges, combinations, poolings, etc. While he perceives the need of restriction and uniformity, he finds difficulties in the practical solution of the problem, and reccommends that a commission of experts, fully competent | rank with Mr. Key. Mr. MacVeagh's useful to pass judgment upon the transportation question in, all its bearings, as well as upon the legal and constitutional points involved, be raised by congress. As we understand his language, he does not propose a commission missions are, but only an advisory one at advantageous or pernicious, according to its proper use or abuse; and he sees great difficulties in the way of a national adjustment of rates of freight without arousing jealousies and complaints from cities and sections.

THE EXPOSITION AS A TEACHER. It is encouraging to note that the growing attendance at the International cotton exposition is not prompted merely by the common curiosity to see big sights and rare products and fabrics-such attractions as ordinary fairs present. Our exposition is doing far more and far better than the gratification of the curiosity of the people. It is teaching them important lessons in industrial progress and domestic economy. It is exhibiting to them the methods and appliances by which other sections-and especially the northern states of the union-have acquired wealth and prosperity under natural facilities less favorable than ours. The exposition, besides containing all the wonderful and attractive exhibits of the state and internationable fairs, is a great workhouse of industry and art-a vast store room of the improved implements and labor saving machiney, by which human toil is lessened and the production of labor greatly increased. The contrast afforded in one of the departments between the spinning and weaving machinery of the early part of this century and that employed at present is hardly greater than the superiority of som of the northern agricultural implements ex hibited at the exposition over those largely in use now in the south. To a reflecting mind this contrast between implements is alone sufficiently suggestive to convey a lesson which may, and we hope will, lead to greatly beneficial results.

now in large part composed of southern men | the ground. of enterprise and skill, who come here to make a study of the exhibit. We have met with several who have come expressly for the purpose of learning something that may be beneficial to them as artisans or mechanics; and they will not go away disappointed. The proprietors of all the manufacturing and me chanical establishments of Georgia and the surrounding states ought to come and bring their skilled superin tendents with them, to acquire practical information that they may make very profitable hereafter. Our progressive planters and farmers ought also to come, with a view of learning how they may save expense in their own honorable occupation and gain for it the profit and prosperity to which it is eminently entitled. It is a lamentable fact that they are far behind some other sections in improved agricultural labor, and that their products are for this reason exchanged under great disadvantages for those of sections which have availed themselves of all the facilities which modern ingenuity offers. With greater advantages than any other part of the world offers for the growth of a staple which all the world must have as a cheap clothing material, we are very partially and sparingly using implements for its production with less labor, and are almost wholly allowing others to reap the profits of its manufacture. Never before has the south had such an opportunity as that afforded by this exposition to ascertain the best means of developing her dormant resources, economizing her labor, stimulating and diversifying her industries, and making one day's work and one dollar's expense double the present return. Come, then, to the exposition and study it as a lesson in industry and economy.

REPUBLICAN REFORM WITHIN THE

The peculiar tone of the comments of the republican newspapers on the collapse of the star route cases would seem to indicate that there is a larger cat in the meal-tub than even the democrats have suspected. The nature and exact dimensions of this half-acknowledged, half-disputed cat are difficult to get at, and if they are divulged at all it will only be when the whole matter has outlived public interest. The condition of these cases-the dismissal of the defendants-the queer statements and contradictions of the alleged star route jobbers are powerful than the law set in motion for their punishment. This has been the attitude of Brady's newspapers from the first-that, no matter what the nature of the testimony that might be unearthed against the jobbers, they would go scot free: and the investigation has been characterized from the first as an unlaw ful conspiracy against the usefulness of such republicans as Brady, Dorsey and Tyner. We are perfectly willing to confess that this siness is a mystery to us unless we connect Mr. Haves and his administration, and other republicans in high places, whose names have not been mentioned, directly with the dishonest transactions set forth in the evidence. Postmaster-General Key, it will be remembered, according to his own confession, treated the report of Tyner, in which these frands were first uncovered as a private paper on the ground, as he says (or as he is reported to say), that to give it publicity would raise an unnecessary row. In other words, to shield the men who were inculpated, Mr. Key not only suppressed the report, but continued the criminals in office. Ordinarily, such a confession as this would subject even an ex-postmaster general to considerable adverse criticism: but it is well known that Key was merely a figure-head-the instrument, so to speak, of such men as Brady. Now, Mr. Key was a new bird in the basket, and if his moral sense could be thus blunted or obliter ated with respect to these particular frauds upon the government, why is it not ceasonable to suppose that other and more prominent republicans were coparceners not only as to knowledge, but as to actual guilt: The attitude of Brady, and Dorsey, and their friends warrants no other conclusion, and it is darkly hinted at by Mr. MacVeagh when he says that his usefulness as representing the overnment in the star route cases "was abso-'lutely ended by the death of President Gar "field." The fact that Mr. MacVeagh obstinately refused to give any further inkling of the true inwardness of this mysterious affair shows that, as a reformer, he is entitled to ness in connection with the prosecution of the star route jobbers may have ended absolutely with the death of President Garfield, but Mr MacVeagh certainly owes it to the country and to the memory of ness is ended. Nobody is likely to hold Mr empowered to act as the state railroad com- the dead president to tell us why his usefulpresent. He regards the pooling system as MacVeagh responsible for the fiasco, though only an experiment now-one that may prove certainly the whole business is typical of the sham reform in which he and other more or less conscientious republicans have been en gaged; but everybody can see and appreciate the ridiculous position in which Mr. Mac Veagh is left, according to his own account His position, indeed, is little better than that of Cook and Corkhill, who are now supposed to be exhausting the American language in belittling each other. Until within a few weeks every person engaged in the prosecution of the star route jobbers has been roundly abused in Brady's newspapers. This, however, suddenly ceased, and for a month or more the Washington Republican, which was most savagely active, has been as prim and as deco rous as a Philadelphia Lady's Book. This change of attitude was made the subject of one or two paragraphic flippancies in these columns and the result shows that a flippant prediction may take the shape of solemn prophecy. Whatever may be said of the farcical pros cution inaugurated by Mr. MacVeagh, the evidence published in the New York Times shows that the investigation was undertaken seriously, and that at least one republican journal betrayed earnestness in the matter. It is true, the investigation has developed little that was not unearthed by Mr. Blount, of Georgia, and his democratic committee, out the fact that the Times had the nerve to publish it, shows two things-first, that the ditor is anxious for reform, and, second, that he is not in the confidence of the Guiteau party. In the meantime, we are waiting to hear from the republican reformers.

THE Boston Post is now fifty years of age. Age. owever, has nothing to do with a paper like the Post. It has young blood in its veins and still goes with a hop, skip and a jump. In fact, it has greatly The daily attendance at the exposition is improved of late, and is not by any means run into

> JOHN KELLY announces through his organs that e is not by any means dead. And this is true. He is still in a condition to sell out the democracy in 1884 if the republicans deem it worth while to buy his influence

> THE Vicksburg Herald says that on election day in that state every second man to be met was full of whisky. Politics and whisky do not mix well.

> THE Chicago Tribune doesn't want the overflowed and son the Mississippi to be reclaimed at govern nent expense. And why not? Every monopoly in ntry is a tax upon the people. Protection so-called, is merely the enhancement of private operty at the expense of the people. This may not be right, but it is the fashion

Isn't it about time for the wool-hat boys to rise u and seize the Georgia legislature? There ought to be reform in our methods of law-making

The controversy is one which outside judgment seems powerless to settle.

The election in this state has demonstated several rather interesting things.

1. An Irishman and a Catholic can be placed at the head of the republican state ticket, and can get a larger majority than any of his associates.

2. When the republicans nominate a bad candidate for an important state office, the chances are that he will be cut to pieces at the polls. The balf eagle of Westchester is now balder than ever. He has hardly a pin feather left.

The Boy of the Period.

From Mary A. Livermore's Lowell Address.

The boy of to-day is not receiving the proper home culture. Children slip away from parental care. This is due to the rigorous old-time home culture. Education must be inculcated by the mother. In Wales, England, the character of the mother is inquired for as a recommendation for the son. The average boy, noisy, impetuous, detesting home work, bankrupt in education and a dodger of churches and other pious places, yet has a fathomless tendernoes for his mother, but he wants no spectator. He is characterized by a passionate loyalty to whatever he espouses, and a high sense of honor to which appeal can sufely be made in most cases. One thing in his teaching is imperative—moral purity. Let the mother inculcate this with loving care, putting aside false notions of modesty and all prudishness. Let us have done with the belief in the saying, "Wild oats must some time be sowed." He who thus sows inevitably reaps a similar harvest. Every boy should be trained to respect womanhood. Nothing so much adorns American manhood as his respect for woman. The boy should be trained in politeness. This has a commercial value nowadays. He makes his way in the world more easily for a pleasing address. There is no reason why the boy of to-day should not be taught the ordinary rules of ctiquette. Good manners are to a man what beauty is to a woman. But best of all, train boys in honor, in integrity and trustworthiness. Every boy should have an industrial occupation, and this should be in harmony with his tastes. So with girls. To sum it all up, train the boy into manliness that standard of manliness that combines the strongest virtues. t all up, train the boy into manliness, that standard of manliness that combines the strongest virtues with the gentlest weakness. Let him be like a hand of iron in a glove of velvet. There is nothing higher or nobler than this.

THE BANQUET

To the Manufacturers of Fall River, Mass. Last evening, at the Exposition hotel, occurred another of those pleasing social reunions which have already marked, and will serve hereafter to identify, the holding of the International cottor exposition. After the supper had been fully discussed, the flow of wit and wisdom was in order. The ceremonies were conducted under the admirable chairmanship of Hon. B. E. ow. The banquet was at an end at 11 o'clock, and the guests were happily returned to the city night on a special train.

A Rare Opinion.

A representative of THE CONSTITUTION yesterda net Mr. Fred Cook, of the firm of Cook & Rice of Evansville, exhibitors at the exposition and the nanufacturers of the famous Pilsener beer. In reply to inquiries, Mr. Cook said:

The comparison may be easily made between this and any world's fair ever held It is on a grand scale and far beyond anything had reason to expect, although I had read muc about it. It's good effects in bringing our people together, in educating your people up to what w have understood all along, but which we desire that the people of the south should equally know are beyond calculation. There is amity progress and reciprocity of patriotism and ommerce in what I see here displayed to-day. The nterests of the south and west are becoming dail; nore identical; therefore it gives men of the west like myself hope for the future, commercially, so cially and every other wise, that can add to the prosperity of both sections and the general good of he country."

Mr. Cook was earnest and emphatic, and his view are the sublimation of thousands who have pre ceded him.

THE ONE EWE LAMB.

What bitter words were said to-night
Beside my hearthstone desolate!
What maddening sorrow brake the gloom
Of this forever haunted room
When solemn twilight fell.
And I, now robbed of my delight,
Came homeward, all at war with fate,
And deafened by her funeral knell!

Refore the daisied sods were placed Upon her grave, my one year wife, Before the blossoms, fresh and fair, Were hidden from the outer air

He came from far off land of gold.
Whose shores the southern waters lave;
He came to scatter at her feet
World's wealth and love's, to make complete:
Their lives with perfect end;
To claim her promise given of old,
And found the silence of a grave,
Without the right that grave to tend.

And I, to whom they gave her hand. And 1, to when say,
With full assurance of her heart,
I, who a year ago laid down
The dream of fame that was to crown.
The scholar's round of toil,
And lived to guard my wife; I stand Aghast, confounded at the part
I played, my darling's life to speil.

thought to make her so content, I thought that love must answer love; I spent the wealth that God had given. As freely as the dews of heaven, To beautify her lot; I fenced with love the way she went, I hung love's canopy above But now I know she heeded not.

she was my wife, she wore my ring, My jewels shown upon her breast,
And while I thought that time would be
A friend to my young wife and me,
And bind us soul to soul,
Like wandering doves upon the wing,
Her wounded spirit found no rest,
I had no power to make her whole.

The mistress of mine ancient halls, One year she blessed my quiet life, One year—one little year—my wife. And now the tale is told:
I laid her in her grave to-day, But on that grave the shadow falls Of one who loved in days of old. "My one ewe lamb!" he said to me, This evening when the twilight fell, "The poor ewe lamb her owners solo To thee for shameful greed of gold, My lamb that thou has slain;

One year she went upon her way,

For it was death to link to thee The beating heart that loved me w And she hath perished of her pair And then he cursed me in his grief; Oh God! I could find curses, too, Oh God! I could find curses, too,
To think of all my wasted cares,
My love, my longings, and my prayers,
For one weak woman's heart:
But bitter words bring no relief
For love so old, for grief so new;
No curse hath healing for a smart.

She was my wife, she wore my ring,
But now I know she was my slave.
I know each tender look and smile.
Came from a heart that ached the whileFor love of one away;
I could not win that blessed thing,
Her girlish love—the gift she gave Another in a far off day.

He, coming home to claim his wife He, coming nome to claim his wife, Lies prone upon the church yard sod, And I would gladly die to win The reace my wife lies folded in. My wife! my wife! said I. Ah heaven! the riddle of this life Is hard to read. She is with God. Nor can I claim her though I die

I bought, her, as she said, with gold, But in my heart of hearts I am Clean from all hurt of this ewe lamb; i did not steal a wife, But had no instinct to divine Between a heart free given. he was my wife, but was but half no instruct to divine setween a heart free given or sold;

And so I wrecked my darling's life.

It is certain that there will be heavy litigation to annul the lease. Colonel Cole and his friends were present during the convention of stockholders, but took no part in it. The old board didn't offer for re-election, holding that as the road had been leased they had no further power until the termi E. P. H.

THE GREENVILLE AND LAURENS. Augusta Chronicle. Augusta Chronicle.

We gave, a few days since, some of the facts and figures in reference to the Savannah Valley railroad and the Atlanta and French Broad and the Atlanta and French Broad and the Atlanta and French Broad and the Augusta and Knoxville at Dorn's mines and the other at Trickem, one extending to Anderson and the other to Pickens. The building of the Greenwood. Laurens and Spartanburg railroad has aiready been decided upon, bonds to the amount of $150,000 subscribed by Laurens and Spartanburg counties, and a permagent or burg railroad has already been decided upon, bonds to the amount of $15,000 subscribed by Laurens and Sparumburg counties, and a permanent organization affected with Mr. E. F. Verdery, of the Augusta and Knoxville railroad as president, thus practically making a consolidated line from Augusta to Spartanburg. We have now before us a new line which will also connect with the Augusta and Knoxville railroad. This is the Greenville and Laurens railroad, extending from Greenville to Laurens, a distance of 35 miles. It is 25 miles from Greenwood to Laurens, or about the same distance that it is between the two places by the Greenville and Columbia railroad. Mr. W. Manldin, of Greenville, president of the Greenville and Laurens railroad, was in Augusta yesterday for the purpose of conferring with President Verdery. He says that the company will have no difficulty in grading the road between the two points. They have $150,000 in bonds, of which $25,000 was subscribed by the town of Greenville, $50,000 by Greenville county, and $75,000 by Laurens couty, says it can be made ready for the from for $140,000. They, therefore, do not ask for money. Their object is to have the road taken into the Augusta and Knoxville system with proper safeguards against discriminations against points on the new road. As the matter now stands Greenville is as completely shut off from Charleston as if there was a Chinese wall between the two places. The Richmond and Danville road has control of the road running into Greenville and is master of the situation.

When the new road is built this will not be the running into Greenville and is master of the situation.

When the new road is built this will not be the case. The Richmond and Danville has offered to take the bonds subscribed by Greenville and Laurens and build the road if the contract was given to it, but neither Greenville nor Laurens desires this, as they would then be in no better condition than they are now. The company desires to go in with the Augusta and Knoxville, so as to have a competing line and give that portion of South Carolina an outlet to the sea, via Augusta. It would be a good thing for Augusta and the Augusta and Knoxville railroad, as well as for the Greenville and Laurens. As soon as the Greenwood, Laurens and Spartanburg railroad is completed from Greenwood to Laurens, twenty-five miles, the connection could be made.

SELMA AND MOBILE.

CINCINNATI, November 15.—Arrangements have been completed for the organization of the Cincinnati, Selma and Mobile railroad. The company will operate 72 miles of road leading from Akron, on the Alabama Great Southern railroad, to Selma. All but 17 miles, between Akron and Greensburg of this line, have been built and are in operation, the completed portion having been acquired by purchase. The capital stock has been placed at $1,000,000, two-thirds of which has been subscribed by Cincinnati capitalists. The remainder of the stock is held by Mr. Frad Wolffe and New York men. Mr. Fred Wolffe will be the president of the company. An executive committee will be chosen of Cincinnatians. The Cincinnati, Selma and Mobile rairoad is a highly important acquisition to the strength of the Cincinnati Southern. It will open 'the way to Selma, Montgomery, Mobile, Pensacola, and Brunswick and run through the very heart of "the cotton garden of the south." The natural result will be to bring to the Cincinnati Southern a large volume of traffic which has hitherto sought other outlets, for the road will enjoy all the advantages incident to direct communication with the cities named and the country tributary thereto. A long contract for the use of the road from Selma to Montgomery having been made with the Louisville and Nashville railroad company, the gap of seventeen miles will be put under contract at once and be completed by the middle of January. SELMA AND MOBILE.

Jackson News

Jackson News.

The Griffin and Madison railroad is being discussed by some of the prominent men of Griffin in a way that seems to indicate an early move towards building the road. We have been informed that a prominent banker of that place said he will give $5,000, and several others, citizens, $1,000 each towards building it. Colonel Cole has signified his willingness to build the road if the people will assist him. The people of Griffin want the road built to Monticello anyhow, provided the charter can be secured at reasonable figures. There seems to be a doubt on this point, as I udge Lochrane, who owns the charter, is is said, has it deposited in New York, as collateral for a loan of money, which amount will have to be raised before it can be had, and it is thought the incumbrances are in excess of the value of the charter, at least more than they are willing to pay for it. In that event, it is suggested that new charter be had from Griffin to Locust Grove, to connect with the Macon and Brunswick, in order-to secure through rates of freight for Griffin.

THE SOUTH CAROLINA.

Charleston News and Courier.

We are informed that a basis of settlement between the purchasing committee of the South Carolina railroad and the Charleston syndicate, involving the claim of the latter for expenses, etc., has been agreed upon, and that a final adjustment of the matters so long in dispute is now in sight. This being so, the only unsettled question will be the appeal of Cockroft, who claims that the bidding at the sale of the road was chilled by a sudden settlement made with one of the creditors who had determined to bid high for the property. We suppose that the Cockroft appeal can be disposed of, and in that event the road will soon be at the end of complications which promised to be interminable. Time is money, especially in railroad management, and too fluch time has been lost already.

THE ERLANGER SYNDICATE. Charleston News and Courier. THE ERLANGER SYNDICATE.

THE ERLANGER SYNDICATE.

CHATTANOOGA, November 15.—It is rumored that two passenger trains, daily, will be put upon the Alabama Great Southern railroad in a few weeks, both to make close connection with the Ciucinnati Southern trains. This will be very important, and will be the first organized move of the Erlanger syndicate to consolidate their system. It is also rumored that through sleepers will soon be run from Vicksburg to Cincinnat.

THE KNOXVILLE AND OHIO. The East Tennessee, Virginia and Georgia railroad company have concluded to lay a zig-zay track so as to run trains on the Knoxville and Ohio railroad up over the tunnel which burned and caved in some months ago, and has been giving them so much trouble.

SOUTHERN GOLD MINING NOTES

Chattanooga Tradesman. see-Prof. S. M. Broyles, an experienced miner from Colorado, who recently examined the Coco Creek gold mines in Monroe county, says there are plenty of quartz bearing veins cropping out to the surface but there is little attention paid to them as it is useless to spend time, money and labor on them unless quartz mills and smelters were handy, lie adds that the indications and the different strata of quartz are as good as he ever saw.

Georgia—Reports from the Georgia gold belt are quite encouraging. The mines are running about as usual, with the exception of the Chicago, which mine has suspended work for a few days with a view to moving the mill, machinery, etc., which will enable them to work the mine to a greater depth.

Capiain Davis, the superintendent of the Wells dine, is pushing work on the new mill and will ave everything in running order soon. The survey of the Camp creek ditch has been

The Findley has better prospects than for some time. The big mill only runs about eighteen hours or of twenty-four, the dry weather cutting short the water in Yahoola river.

The Bast is running along as usual, and making its regular satisfactory "clean up," enabling it to hold its even tenor with the Ivey. The Bast and Ivey form the Georgia consolidated and is superintended by Captain J. P. Imboden.

Preparations are being made at the Lockhart and Hamilton to build a forty-stamp mill and erect a good and substantial dam. The Hamilton is one of the best mines in that section, and will astonish the natives with the yields when rightly under headway.

The scarcity of water in the Yahoola ditch siill retards work at the Barlow. At this mine out of forty they only run ten stamps.

The ivey is in full blast. Everything is neatity arranged and working to perfection. The "little giant' does its work rapidly and to perfection; the giant is one of the best modern improvements in the hydraulic system of mining. The twenty-stamp mill is kept steady at work day and night.

The new "find" on the Martin lot is proving itself better as development is made, and bids fair to rank with the best pay-streaks of the Ivey.

Captain Nobles, who leased several miles of the Chestatee river for mining purposes, launched his dredge boat on the 27th of August, and at once began putting in the machinery, which is composed of a steam boiler and vacuum chamber capable of lifting from two to three tons, and repeating the same three times in every seven minutes. If this one should prove to be a success, no doubt quite a number of the machines will be built.

The most enthusiastic efforts are being brought into action to complete the survey of the dam leading to the Calboun mine. Work goes bravely and rapidly on and a future of magnificence and munificence is predicted for this mine.

Good reports come from the North Carolina gold mines. Some of the old ones are being prought in the machines will be built.

The most enthusiastic efforts are bei counties the mining business is being pushed with vigor.

South Carolina—Mining intelligence from South Carolina is encouraging. Investments are proving satisfactory, and permanent industries are being opened up through developments made in gold mines which were but a short time since regarded as being of little value.

Alabama—Charles Werdman, of Calera, Alabama, who has given much time and study to the science of mineralogy, has been prospecting extensively in Talladega and Clay counties, and has found very rich outcroppings of gold, silver, and other valuable minerals in much of the territory examined. He thinks all that is needed to make that part of the state a great mining region is the capital necessary to work and develop it.

Mrs. Marie Louise Thompson, of Portland, has a confederate battle flag that has an interesting history. It was captured in the war, by her husband now deceased, who was captain of the First Maine artillery. The flag was made and presented by the ladies of New Orleans to a regiment or company, composed of the first young men of that city. It is quite large, is made of silk, with silver fringe, and bears the letters, B. H. G. Mrs. Thompson desires to ascertain the number or name of the regiment or company to which the banner belonged, in order that it may be returned to its former owners as an act of couriesy on the part of the Maine officers of the Grand Army of the Republic. O. M. Bradbury is now in the city, and may succeed in finding the owner. A Confederate Flag.

Murder and Suicide. Murder and Suicide.

SAN FRANCISCO, November 15.—The bodies of Herbert Osborne and Mrs. Prince were found in a house, this morning, near San Rafeal. The woman's jaw was broken and her skull fractured. A piece of iron was found lying on the floor. A bottle partially filled with laudanum was found on Osborne's person. The generally accepted theory is that the woman was murdered by Osborne, who then poisoaed himself. Mrs. Prince had been divorced from her husband and Osborne had been working on her farm.

Baltimore, November 15.—John Merryman, ex-state treasurer and president of the National agri-cultural association, died this morning at his home in Hayfield, Baltimore county, aged fifty-seven years. Mr. Merryman was a successful farmer and large importer of the best breeds of cattle and years. Mr. Merryhan best breeds of eattle and sheep. He was extensively engaged in the manufacture of fertilizers which were sold in Georgia and other southern states where the deceased was widely known.

The Land Leaguers. Special dispatch to the Constitution.

Bostos, November 15.—The third quarterly report of the secretary of the Irish national land league of the United States, shows that from the Burffale convention to date there has been sent from the organization, as reported at the central office to the home executive of the league, $127,835. The California branches also report that $4,109 have been sent through unofficial channels.

A Shock of Earthquake.

SAN FRANCISCO, November 15.—A severe shock of earthquake was felt at noon to-day in the city of San Jose. The oscellitions were from north to south. A heavy rain storm prevailed at the time. The shock was severe enough to upset a pile of sack wheat at the railroad depot and caused great excitement.

FUNERAL NOTICE.

SPALDING-Died, November 15th, 1881, at three o'clock 30 minutes, a. m., Sallie Weller Spalding, daughter of Rev. and Mrs. A. T. Spalding, aged eleven years and two months. The funeral services will take place at the Second Baptist Church at 10 o'clock, this (Wednesday) morning. The friends and acquaintances of Mr. and Mrs. Spalding, and the Second Baptist Sunday-school are invited to attend.

After a brief illness this lovely and gentle spirit passed over the dark river of death, into the radiant fields of Paradise beyond. Safe in the arms of Jesus-crowned with immortal youth-she is now singing the praises of her Redeemer to whom she had given her heart. "It is well with the child." It is not death! It is but a translation of the mortal into the immortal; of beauty into glory; of faith into blessed reality. Broken lily, sleep in the lust. Thou shalt rise again in deathless rainment. We know that the pure and beautiful cannot perish—we know that our Redeemer liveth.

GRAND SPECIAL DAY VISITORS

-AT THE-INTERNATIONAL

COTTON EXPOSITION!

BY SPECIAL ORDER the executive committee, to meet a demand urged from many quarters, has set apart

Thursday, November 24th, as a day particularly devoted to the visits of the students of colleges and pupils of schools, and of persons who are engaged in the various industrial and manufacturing establishments of this and neighboring states.

The exposition has more the title of a GREAT TECHNICAL SCHOOL, and should be visited and studied by every mechanic and artisan engaged in the work shops and factories of the country. It is calculated in a remarkable degree to stimulate the studies, inform the minds and excite the ambitions of the young people now pursuing their studies in our institutions of learning. Every Parent, Teacher and

Employer should unite with the management of the exposition in signalizing this special occasion by benefit and pleasure it has been set apart. RULES FOR ADMISSION The following regulations will control the admission of employes and pupils of schools:

1. The admission fee will be, for such pupils and employes, 25 CENTS EACH!

2. The beneficiaries of the day will be admitted at the reduced rates only when presenting themselves in parties of ten or more. 3. Presidents of colleges and principals of half-past eight o'clock for prize schools, where they are not able to accompasome one of the party as the leader, and furnish such leader with a certificate of the fact.

> 4. Employers of persons engaged in manufacturing and desiring to attend on this day will also furnish to the leaders of parties certificates of that fact.

5. There will be special admission gates for those entering under this rule, and the leader cents each, ready to hand the gateman to save delay.

Every facility will be afforded for seeing the entire exhibition easily and in order. H. I. KIMBALL,

Director General.

WOUND ON WHITE SPOOLS

The manufacturers of this Spool Cotton have now opened in full blast. They have now put in motion their New Automatic Spooling Machinery, is one which of the greatest echanical marvels ever produced.

This machine can be seen from 10 a, m. till 4 p. m. EVERY DAY.

One of these machines will spool or wind over six thousand spools of cotton every day. It spools or winds EIGHT spools of cotton at a time.

It lifts up the 8 empty spools, fastens the thread on each spool and measures out the 200 yards on all he 8 spools at the same time.

When it has wound and measured the 200 yards, it then cuts the thread on each of the 8 spools It next makes a little incision or slit in the edge of each spool, fastens the thread into the slit, and inally drops the spools, ready for the market, and begins anew with 8 more empty spools.

The incredulous are sometimes inclined to think that there is something supernatural about this nachine, it is so wonderfully perfect and complete in every movement, and yet so simple that one young ady is all that is required to attend to this machine. The manufacturers of Clark's O. N. T. have also put in motion their new Automatic Ticketing rechinery which is another great triumph of mechanical skill and ingenuity.

This machine is registered to put the tickets on both ends of the spools at the rate of 170 per minute, 102,000 every day, and will do the work in a very superior manner to anything of the kind in use This marvel will be in operation and can be seen at the hours named below: 10:00, 10:30, 11:00, 11:30

m. and 2:90, 2:30, 3:00. 3:30 p. m.

They have also introduced BOX MAKING and several other interesting processes in connection with the manufacture of spool cotton. . They have on exhibition the handsomest case of Spool Cotton ever seen in Georgia, standing 20 feet high, and got up at a cost of nearly two thousand dollars.

They also exhibit several beautiful cases of Colored Spool Cottons, which for delicacy of tint and brilliancy of color have never been equaled by any other thread manufacturers. The manufacturers of O. N. T. also exhibit their 100 Mile Monster Spools. The feat of winding thread on such enormous spools has never been successfully accomplished by any other thread makers. They have also on exhibit 10,000 Japanese Work Boxes, each box containing 8 spools of O. N. T. Cotton, which they will offer to the public at the low price of 50 cents each. The manufacturers of CLARK'S O. N. T. SPOOL COTTON are preparing to distribute, FREE OF CHARGE, 100,000 sample boxes of this celebrated thread, which will be prepared in the building.

The manufacturers of O. N T. are in the proud position of being the largest manufacturers of spool cotton in the world, giving employment to upwards of 6,000 operatives.

The enormous increase in the demand for this celebrated thread has compelled the manufacturers to build an addition to their present works in Newark, N. J., and next year, when completed, will give employment to 1,200 more operatives. There are several brands of CLARK'S THREADS, and there is a very general impression amongst consumers in the south that O. N. T. is wound on black spools. In justice to themselves the manufacturers of O. N. T. beg to correct this very general mistake, and would state that the O. N. T. is wound on WHITE SPOOLS, and the bottom label of every spool is branded O. N. T. NONE OTHER IS GENUINE. At this time the manufacturers of CLARK'S O. N. T. SPOOL COTTON are making a special effort to introduce this thread more universally in the south, and would esteem it a great 'favor if every ady would give it a fair trial and judge of its merits.

It is the popular_thread in all other parts of this great country, and it only requires to be better nown to become the popular sewing thread of the south. Thread can now be had at retail at A full assortment of this Cel JOHN KEELY, CHAMBERLIN, BOYNTON & CO.

This is no wish of mine to take your life, but I are invited by the thinks of a gentleman. your life, but I am inspired by the All Living God to do so as a public necessity and for the benefit of the community at large. You must undoubtedly be aware that you have been a rogue of the first water all your life, that through your artful cunning and deceit you have robbed thousands of persons of their birthwright. You have had no mercy, you have robbed the rich and poor, the father and the fatherless, the widow and the orphan indiscriminately of their last dollar, and through discriminately of their last dollar, and through your villainly have brought ruin and destruction upon thousands of families. All this you have done under a cloak by circulating false reports, bribing newspapers, making false statements, committing perjury and by artful cunning and deception. In fact, you have robbed both great and small, and now the Lord says you must pay for all that. Your death is a public necessity in order to save thousands of others from pain and destruction." There was a good deal more of the the Lord says you must pay for all that. Your death is a public necessity in order to save thousands of others from pain and destruction." There was a good deal more of the same sort of stuff. Jay Gould was not overcome with fear and trembling when he read the letter. He reasoned that if any person had determined to kill him the assassin would could assure them the same grateful and could assure them they call upon me, to give St. Jacobs that if any person had determined to kill him the assassin would could assure them the same grateful and not have taken so much pains to warn him in advance. The ferocity of the letter seemed plainly assumed for blackmailing purposes. The matter was immediately The matter was immediately put into the hands of Police Inspector Byrnes, who caused the following personal to be published in the Herald: "If the person who sent an anonymous communication signed Victim' to a prominent Wall street operator complaining of his losses in stocks will tell at this office, or state where an interview can be had, everything will be arranged to his satisfaction." This notice was published on three consecutive days before ny reply was received. At length, on Octo her 31, another letter was sent to Gould's down-town address. The writer this time had changed his tone completely. He said that he had lost several hundred thousands of dollars through stock speculations. He implored Gould to aid him in remaining some part of his fortune, otherwise relations. He implored Gould to aid him in regaining some part of his fortune, otherwise he intended to kill Gould and then destroy his own life. The letter was sent to Inspector Byrnes, who published the following personal next day: "Correspondent from Texas, can receive advice op one security that will make good all he asks for and name his own way of communicating. I have no desire to have personal interview."

To this the unknown writer replied that he

Select some other manner of communication; this is attracting too much attention. Would rather give a check." The unknown writer then sent a long list of securities, with a cipher, to be used in the personals. It the stocks were to be purchased by him he wanted Gould to advise him through a personal advertisement, and to signify by words "up town" and "down town" whether the stocks were to go up or down. The inspector to gain time published personals on successive days of which the following are specimens: "My friend will greatly oblige by stating how heavily you propose to oblige by stating how heavily you propose to deal. Important I should know before ad-vising. Why refuse money? My friend may have sent two but only last one received. Repeat the first. I cannot received, Repeat the first. I cannot recommend either of the two you mention. Why not take some other means of communicating? You can select your own way, will give the advice before Tuesday if you send word how heavy you go in and name a satisfactory way of communicating. Wy friend can receive the advice by cating. My friend can receive the advice by Wednesday at the latest. Let me give a privileg to protect the operation so that all risk is mine, as some accident may interfere with my plan or let me make the operation and give you the result. How do I know but that you may not give it to ethers." Every day, in answer to the personals, the unknown correspondent sent letters. The epistles were threatening and imploring by turns.

HOW THE CAPTURE WAS EFFECTED. While the correspondence was going on it was noted that all letters written by the blackmailer were sent through station "E." Mr. Gould consented that all letters coming through station "E" should be delivered to Inspector Byrnes. The street-lamp boxes in the district where the station is situated were watched for several days and nights by detectives, but it was not possible to detect the regue in that manner without the assistance of the post-office officials.

Inspector Byrnes procured a map of the en-of the post-office officials.

Inspector Byrnes procured a map of the entire district last Thursday, and formed a plan by which he believed the blackmailer could be captured. He applied to Postmater Pearson for the services of fifty letter carriers for son for the services of fifty letter carriers for one day. After consulting with Postmaster-General James, Mr Pearson agreed to furnish the required number of carriers to act under the inspector's orders to-day. Accordingly, it at an early hour this morning fifty letter carriers in citizen's dress assembled at station E. They met there an equal number of detectives who had been instructed carefully as to the work to be accomplished. The plan of operation was as follows: Detectives, accompanied by letter-carriers, proceeded to the street letter box and intered about within one hundred feet of it. In this manner each of the letter boxes was watched by a carrier and a detective. When any person approached the box and put a letter watched by a carrier and a detective. When any person approached the box and put a letter in it, the carrier at once started for the box, while the detective kept close watch upon the person who had deposited the letter. As soon as the carrier reached the box he opened it and glauced at the address in the letter. It was arranged that if any envelop was found addressed to Jay Gould the carrier should raise tus hat as a signal to the officer, and the person who had put the letter in the box should be arrested at once. When the carrier found the shed his urine was miky and ropy, but he had suffered from these disorders for years. Only of late had he began to feel himself completely exhausted and his nervous system a letter bearing another address he returned it to the box after placing a rubber band around it to distinguish it.

Shortly after 3 p.m. a tall, well-formed man is a sixty years old, with sandy hair mixed with gray, and a heavy gray mustache, walked up to the corner of Seventh avenue and Thirty-fourth street, and quietly dropped a letter in the box. As he turned and walked away in the direction of Sixth avenue he was followed by detective Philip Reilly, while John Healy, the letter carrier, stepped to the box and took out the letter. Healy read the name Jay Goald on the envelop. When the man folt the hands of the policeman on his shoulders and was told that he was under arrest he incurly fainted. He stood for a few moments white and trembling before he could fairly

HOW A BLACKMAILER ATTEMPTED TO FLEECE HIM.

A Good Piece of Detective Work by a New York Inspector, Aided by the Post-Office Authorities—
A Gentlemanly and Well Conducted Rogue-Good Detective Work.

New York, November 13—A remarkable attempt to blackmailer captured in a very clever way. The first appearance of the blackmailer was in a letter to Gould, beginning as follows: "Jay Gould—Sir: It is my painful duty to inform you that in six days from the date of this letter your body will have returned to the dust from whence it have returned to the dust from whence it is into the content of the dust from whence it have returned to the dust from whence it is into the law and the blackmailer captured in a painful duty to inform you that in six days from the date of this letter your body will have returned to the dust from whence it have returned to the dust from whence it have returned to the dust from whence it have a content of the law and been detected. He admitted that he had written the letter.

He gave his name as Colonel J. Howard Welles, and said that he lived at 365 Fifth avenue. In his pocket was found a copy of the key to stocks which he had sent to Gould. As pirit of gratitude prompts me to address a brief note of thanks. Three months ago I returned from Mobile, Alabama, and was immediately attacked with what is known as Sciatic Rheumatism. I employed three physicians in succession, giving each one ample time to afford relief if it had been in his power. I was not materially benefited by their services and was beginning to despair, when a friend who had experienced the effects of St. Jacobs Oil advised me to give it a trial. I refused, because I did not think Rheumatism could be cured by outward application. Incould assure them the same grateful and speedy relief that I have experiened. Wesley Sisson, SAD DEATH—At half past three o'clock yesterday morning, Miss Sallie Spalding, daughter of Rev. Dr. A. T. Spalding, died after an illness of twenty-five days. She was a young lady of pure character and was a decided favorite with all who knew her, and although but a child of eleven years, had proven herself a true Christian. Her funeral will take self a true Christian. Her funeral will take place from the Second Baptist church at ten o'clock this morning and will be largely attended. The Rev. Drs. Tucker and Gwin will conduct the services in the Sunday-school room. The pall bearers are J. P. Harrison, E. N. Mead, J. T. Pendleton, A. D. Adair, J. M. Brown, J. W. Goldsmith, A. G. Howard and T. J. McGuire. In this their great bereavement, which has plunged the family into the deepest grief, the afflicted family has the sympathy of all Atlants.

Shor While Stealing.—For some time past Dennis Edwards, a colored man, who drives for Powell & Bro., the Peachtree grocers, has been annoyed by nocturnal raids upon his wood yard. Sunday night the thieves diminished the pile censiderably, and when daylight developed this fact, Edwards made up his mind to receive the next visitors in a warm style. Late Monday evening he loaded a pistol, and shortly after dark took his post as sentinel, but until after midnight his watch was a lonely and useless one. About one o'clock Edwards saw a man stealthily enter his yard, and after reaching the wood shed attempt to open the door, but a shot from the pistol caused him to stop. A second shot induced him to turn and a third made him flee. At the flying form Edwards fired twice more and then entered his house fully satisfied with his work. A subsequent investigation developed the fact that two of the shots had taken effect, one in the right thigh and one in the shoulder. Neither wound is dangerous. Edwards lives on Wheat street. CRIMES OF NORMANDY.—A large, enthusiastic and fashionable audience witnessed and heard a charming rendition of this beautiful astic and fashionable audience witnessed and heard a charming rendition of this beautiful opera by the Hess opera company at DeGive's opera house last night. Each and every member in the cast was on her and his mettle, causing the entertainment to be highly enjoy able. Five nights of opera to large houses in Atlanta is sufficient evidence of the popularity of the company with our amusement-loving people. Olivette was the first production—this lively composition, with its sparkling airs, airy, herry and pretty, full of frolicsome fun and satching melody; not grand or thrilling, but obright, sunshiny piece. At this opera La Mascotte, a musical comedy of the same family as Olivette; full of light and pleasing melody; with its tender, delicious love song and other music of pleasing tunefulness. And then the Chimes of Normandy. Atlanta audiences will ever welcome the Hess company, with its sprightly, pretty and Lewiching Olivette, Miss Emma Elsner; its pleasing, pretty soprano, Miss Adelaide Randali—well supported by the Messrs. Peakes, Mark Smith, Allen Fairweatler, and Misses Gormon and Eissne; its well balanced chorus and good orchestra.

WEEK'S SERIES OF MEETINGS .- The opening Week's Series of Meetings.—The opening meeting of the series recommended by the last world's conference of Y. M. C. A. workers was held on Sunday afternoon at the association hall, No. 49½ Whitehall street. The hall was filled to actual overflow, and the deep but juiet earnestness which characterized the meeting showed clearly the working of God's shirly income the hearts of those present. As meeting showed clearly the working of God's spirit upon the hearts of those present. An earnest discourse, which will prove most help ful in the furtherance of the proposed work of the week, was delivered in the evening by Dr. Boggs in the Central Presbyterian church, and the second regular meeting was held in the Methodist Protestant church on Forsyth street, where a most profitable hour was enjoyed. The Christian public are cordially invited to attend the succeeding meetings, of which the first is to be at 7:30 to-night in Trinity Methodist church on Whitehall street. Topics have been chosen which demand the Topics have been chosen which demand the most serious attention of all who really care for Christ's cause in Atlanta. "The harvest truly is plenteous, but the laborers are few; pray ye therefore the Lord of the harvest that he send, forth laborers into the harvest," and pray by acts rather than words.

Consumption Cured.

BALTIMORE, Md., February 12th, 1881.
Upon the recommendation of a friend, I tried Brown's Iron Bitters as a tonic and restorative for my daughter, whom I was thoroughly convinced was fast wasting away in Consumption. Having lost three daughters by the terrible disease, under the care of eminent physicians, I was loth to believe that anything could arrest the progress of the disease; but to my surprise, before my daughter had taken one bottle of Brown's Iron Bitters, she began to mend, and is now quite restored to her former health. A fifth daughter began to show signs of consumption, and when the to her former health. A firth daughter began to show signs of consumption, and when the physician was consulted, he quickly said, "Tonics were required!" And when informed that the elder sister was taking Brown's Iron Bitters, responded, "That is a good tonic, take it."

The Arrest of Three Pollecmen.

Yesterday Colonel Thomas, chief of the exposition police force, preferred charges against Captains W. A. Starnes and D. N. Bagby, and Patroiman Z. B. Moon, of the Atlanta police force, and upon these charges the accused officers will be tried at the next meeting of the board of police commissioners. While these officers were on duty yesterday morning they were instructed by Police Commissioner Fox to go to the exposition grounds on official business—the characfer of which is known alone to the commissioners and officers—but when they reached the gate and applied for passes, Major Leyden declined to accommodate them. They then went to the gate through which the trains enter and passed in, but in a short while their entry was reported to Major Leyden who at once ordered Lieutenant Clarke, of the exposition force, to arrest them. When Lieutenant Clarke informed the officers that they were under arrest, they told him that they were there in the discharge of their duty and that they were there in the discharge of their duty and that they would not submit. Major Leydon was then informed and in person called several of the exposition force to him and instructed them to arrest the two captains and their patrolman and put them in the guard house, but about this time Mayor English came up and succeeded in stopping the arrest and in adjusting matters for the time. The captains then explained their presence, but without effect, and later in the day Colonel Thomas, in obedience to instructions from Major Leyden, preferred the charges against the men.

At the meeting when the exposition police force was created. Commissioner Fox introduced a resolution, which the city of Atlanta. The exposition grounds, by the charter of the city of Atlanta, are under the control of the Atlanta police force, and, therefore, is, it is thought, accessible by them when the occasion demands.

His Feet Were Almost Rotten. Macon, Ga., March 14,1881.

Dear Sir: The Sanodine I got from you acted better than anything I have ever used. I cured one horse of a terrible case of scratches His feet were almost rotten. In a few days it was well. I cured another horse of a sore back of the worst kind in a few days with Sanodine, after trying various remedies without success. I consider it a valuable remedy. and shall keep supplied with it.
